County Will Hold Teachers' Exams. Thursday, Friday

Quarterly Tests at Washington Announced by Examiner Austin

ENUMERATION SOON

Wilson, Witt Re-Elected Directors of Hope District 1-A

The regular quarterly examination of Hempstead county school teachers will be held at Washington Thursday and Friday of this week at which time applicants may apply for any form of license and at least one form of state license, County School Examiner E. E. Austin announced Tuesday.

Blank forms for the annual enumeration of all persons of scholastic age, 6 to 21, have been sent to the various school boards of the county. This enumeration, Mr. Austin said, is to be concluded and a report filed with the county examiner on or before March 30.

Cards for the enumeration of children one year old and younger are in the hands of the various school directors, and are to be filled out and filed by March 30.

It is announced that Hempstead county within the next five days would receive $4,459.38 as its share of an apportionment of a state common school fund, which is 41 cents per child of scholastic age. Hempstead county's school enumeration is 10,878.

Robert Wilson and Theo P. Witt were elected school directors of Hope School District 1-A in a quiet election last week. Neither candidate was opposed. A total of 72 votes were cast in which an 18-mill school tax was voted. Other school districts in the county will hold elections next month.

Union Miner Head Hits Hydro Power

John L. Lewis Plays Proposed Missouri Valley Authority

WASHINGTON.—Branding the governmental-subsidized hydro-electric projects as uneconomical and unsound, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, issued an ultimatum here during the Appalachian Wage Conference that the whole coal industry, miner and operator alike, will strenuously oppose further hydro-electric developments.

President Lewis attacked all hydro-electric projects, and particularly the Missouri Valley Authority, proposed by Senator Norris, and the Loup River project in the interior of Nebraska, which has already been approved by Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

Lewis said that not one of the hydro-electric projects will produce electricity cheaper than the same electricity can be produced by steam-generating plants.

"The outstanding fact in connection with hydro-electric development is that the development of hydro-electric plants to generate power to displace coal is no longer considered upon a basis of cost," said Lewis. "The Tennessee Valley Authority was not authorized by Congress because electric power would displace coal upon any basis of cost. The Boulder Dam was not projected upon that premise. The St. Lawrence waterway is not to be built because electric power can be produced cheaper than electric power produced by coal. The Loup River project in Nebraska is not being projected because the power thus generated will be cheaper for industry than power produced by coal."

"The Loup River project is being promoted by a group of about 150 individuals out in Nebraska who have hired a man to represent them in getting the government money to finance the project, and from all reports he is to get either 10 per cent or 5 per cent of the gross amount that the government allocates to the Loup River project and he is working hard at the task. His interest in developing the Loup River project is to get his commission and the 150 people who are willing to pay him a commission if the government will give them the money with which to pay his commission. A very simple proposition and, by the way, the Loup River project was surveyed repeatedly by private power enterprise and rejected as being an inefficient site for the development of electric power on the basis of cost of other projects and with coal."

Indictment Charges She Lured Physician on Fake Sick Call

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(AP)—Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench, wife of Dr. Ludwig O. Muench, physician, and four men were indicted at suburban Clayton Tuesday on a charge of kidnaping Dr. I. D. Kelley for ransom April 20, 1931. The men indicted are: Felix McDonald, a former convict; Bart Davis; Angelo Rosegrant, a salesman; and John C. Johnson, negro tenant on the farm where Dr. Kelley was held captive after being lured from his home on a fake sick call. Mrs. Muench is widely known in St. Louis as the proprietor of a fashionable dress shop which went bankrupt with $77,000 loss to its creditors. The woman is alleged to have been the "brains" behind the kidnaping of Kelley.

School Funds Are Apportioned State

Hempstead's $4,459 Largest Sum in Southwestern Counties

LITTLE ROCK.—The State Board of Education Monday apportioned a state common school fund totaling $268,572.47 among 653,711 children in the 75 counties—41 cents per child—and approved revised regulations for the certification of Arkansas school teachers.

Chief among the changes in regulations was a provision for a three-year elementary certificate upon completion of one year of college work—30 semester hours.

The board also liberalized the requirements for renewals of certificates. All county certificates may be renewed without additional requirements other than service—first grade certificates indefinitely, second grade twice, and third grade once.

State first grade certificates issued prior to September 1, 1934, may be renewed without additional requirements. Renewals thereafter will require three additional semester hours.

Three methods were provided for renewal of four-year and five-year elementary certificates. Applications may be based on teaching records the last year of the period, or upon any half of the period, or upon five additional semester hours, if the applicant has not taught during the period.

Changes in curricula for teachers, recommended by committees from the colleges, also were adopted. Copies of the new "Blue Book," will be available probably within a month. Commissioner W. E. Phipps said.

Vouchers for the apportionments will be sent out within five days to the treasurers of the 75 counties. The school enumeration and amount of apportionment for the southwestern counties are as follows:

Enumeration	Apportionment
Hempstead	10,878 4,459.38
Howard	6,712 2,741.92
LaFayette	6,195 2,539.55
Miller	10,590 4,341.90
Nevada	7,931 3,282.71

Only 4 Days Left to Assess Taxes

Assessor Will Move to Washington After Saturday Night

Only four more days remain to assess taxes on farm land and personal property while the assessor's office is in city hall at Hope, John W. Ridgill said Tuesday.

After Saturday the office will be moved to Washington. Mr. Ridgill urged property holders in this section to assess before Saturday and avoid a last minute rush.

Program Is Ready for Visiting Day

Log-Sawing Contest Feature at Experiment Farm Friday

The spring visiting day program to be held at the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment Station, Friday, March 16, will offer many things of interest to those who are anxious to replace their farm activities to best advantage, according to G. W. Ware, assistant director in charge.

First hand information will be given by college of agriculture and extension specialists on pruning, spraying, fertilizing, tree planting and management, pasture building, plant and sweet potato growing, landscape gardening, soil improvement, cover crops and many other timely and practical subjects.

Short talks on agricultural adjustments will be made in the afternoon by Dean Dan T. Gray, dean and director of the college of agriculture, and T. Roy Reid, assistant director, in charge of the agricultural extension service. Prof. J. R. Cooper will give a demonstration on landscape gardening before the women's section.

In addition to the regular program, and as an appropriate entertainment feature, a log-sawing contest will be held during the noon hour. This contest is quite simple, yet very exciting. The several teams will be provided with a cross-cut saw and a fifteen inch log. Each team will be required to saw off three blocks from their respective logs, prizes being awarded to the three teams completing first.

Unfavorable weather will not interfere with the meeting and the comforts of the visitors. Transportation has been provided to drive them through the farm in the morning.

Wright, Lindbergh to Conduct Study of Army Aviation

Famed Flyers Authorized to Investigate Flying of Mail

SERVICE SUSPENDED

John S. Cohen, Atlanta, New Democratic Treasurer

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Secretary Dorn of the Department of War Tuesday named a special committee of aeronautical authorities including Orville Wright, Charles A. Lindbergh and Clarence Chamberlin, to investigate the army's carrying of the mail. He asked the committee to especially consider "such flying instruments as are deemed necessary for efficient navigation, and night, beacon and radio-controlled flights and landings."

He also asked the committee, in consideration of the army's personnel, to weight its training and experience in cross-country flying, night flying, blind-flying and instrument-flying.

Major General Hugh A. Drum, deputy chief of staff, was named chairman of the committee, which also includes other ranking army officers.

Cohen, Party Treasurer
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The administration has asked John S. Cohen, Atlanta (Ga.) publisher, to become treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

Cohen, former senator from Georgia, is understood to be en route to Washington to talk over the matter with Postmaster General Farley.

The party treasurer's post was vacated by the resignation of Frank C. Walker, of New York, now head of President Roosevelt's National Emergency Council.

Bonus Bill Passes
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Beating down administration forces, the house Monday passed the Patman bill to pay the 2-billion-dollar veterans' bonus in United States notes. The vote was 285 to 125.

By two to one, the house took the measure away from the ways and means committee and brought it to the floor. Much of the debate concerned the manner in which the bonus would be paid. It calls for issuance of United States notes of small denominations, which would be circulated as currency.

"This bill does not cost the taxpayer an additional cent; it doesn't unbalance the budget," argued Representative Vinson of Georgia, a member of the ways and means committee.

"It is only the beginning of that great scheme for printed money," replied Representative Gifford, Republican, Massachusetts.

Representative Byrns of Tennessee, Democratic leader, in a final appeal against the bill, said it would upset the president's recovery plans.

The bill goes to the senate, which only two weeks ago refused to add a similar bonus proposal to the independent offices appropriation bill.

Veto Likely to Hold
Even if it should pass the senate, President Roosevelt in a letter to Speaker Rainey has promised to veto the bill. There were sufficient votes for the bonus in the house today to override a veto there, but whether they would line up in the same manner in combating a veto was doubtful.

The vote to take the measure away from the ways and means committee was 313 to 104, or 35 more than necessary to override a veto.

Defection of administration Democrats on the issue surprised even Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas, leader of the bonus bloc. Not one Democratic leader spoke against the Texas' motion to discharge the ways and means committee, and Speaker Rainey, who usually votes on administration issues, did not have his name called.

COLUMBIA, S. C.—(AP)—Robert H. Wiles was electrocuted Monday at the state penitentiary here for kidnaping and killing Hubbard H. Harris, Columbia school boy.

The 49-year-old mechanic went to his death with a hymn on his lips after making a full confession and taking sole responsibility for the crime.

"I am guilty," he said. "I did it and I am ready to pay for it. No one else was in it at all."

Wiles walked boldly into the electrocution room, greeting officers and witnesses with a cheery "good morning, gentlemen."

Mayor Boyett Issues Order Against Air Guns and Slingshots

Mayor Ruff Boyett Tuesday issued a warning against amateur hunters who are packing air guns and slingshots and ruthlessly killing birds within the city limits.

Shooting of air guns and slingshots in the corporation of Hope is unlawful, the mayor said. He cited ordinance number 196 which prescribes a fine of not over $25 for this offense.

"Unless this shooting is stopped at once I will be compelled to instruct the police to arrest such offenders and bring them before the municipal court to be tried and dealt with according to law," the mayor concluded.

The action of Mayor Boyett followed numerous complaints from residents of Ward three.

Doug and Mary to Patch Up Troubles

Not Even Ashley Divorce Bill Will Keep Them Apart

LONDON.—(AP)—Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. and his wife, Mary Pickford, have practically patched up all their differences and are near a reconciliation, the Associated Press learned from indisputable sources Monday.

Fairbanks and Miss Pickford have talked over transatlantic telephone within the last few days with the result that their reunion on the old basis of married life is practically assured.

"It is just a matter of time now," the Associated Press informant said, "but reconciliation will require several months."

Fairbanks is planning to return to the United States in two or three months as soon as he has finished a picture-making contract in Europe. Hollywood's most famous couple may reunite as soon as he lands, but it seems more likely that it will be two months after that before they are reunited.

To Provide Small Parcel Land and Stock and Money

Hopkins Outlines Federal Relief Plan Succeeding CWA Program

120,000 FAMILIES

That Number in South to Be Helped, Administrator Estimates

ATLANTA, Ga.—(AP)—The federal government is going to see that the man who got "a rotten deal in 1928 and 1929" gets a new one now, Harry Hopkins, national relief administrator, said Tuesday.

Speaking to relief administrators from 12 Southern states, Hopkins said the plan for rehabilitation of rural areas will be something more than an emergency affair.

The administrator said approximately 120,000 families in the South would benefit from the program proposed and developed by President Roosevelt.

He outlined the general plans as obtaining for rural destitute families a small tract of decent land, a decent house, lending a mule, cow, hog and chickens, and advancing some cash.

He suggested Public Works Administration programs in rural areas and the development of small industries in farm districts.

Landowners, he said, generally were not being considered in the program, but if the owner is "broke" the government will lend him a little money to tide him over.

Succeeds CWA
When the Civil Works Administration is finally demobilized on March 30, its activities, in town and communities over 5,000 population, will be taken over by the work division of the Emergency Relief Commission in Arkansas, it has been announced by W. R. Dyess, State Director, following instructions from Harry L. Hopkins, National Relief Administrator.

Although 5,000 population is set as a minimum, the instructions stated in communities of less than that with a classification of "urban or industrial," work could be undertaken on approval of both the state and national directors.

Workers will be paid a minimum of 30 cents per hour with a maximum week of 24 hours. Skilled labor will be paid the "prevailing wage" instead of the flat $1 per hour rate under the CWA. County boards to fix these scales have been set up in each county and a state board of review and adjustment has been named to adjust differences arising in the counties.

It is believed that the new work program will be similar to that of the CWA.

Plans for the relief program in towns under 5,000 in which no work projects can be carried, were discussed Monday and Tuesday of this week at a conference of directors from 12 southern states held in Atlanta, Ga. The program will be strictly one of rehabilitation with the "back to the land" movement as a basis. The government will assist the unemployed by furnishing land, livestock, seed and other materials.

Your House of Happiness

Take what He gives. O heart of mine, And build your house of happiness. Perchance some have been given more; But many have been given less. The treasure lying at your feet, Whose value you but faintly guess, Another builder, looking on, Would rather heaven to possess. Have you found work that you can do? Is there a heart that loves you best? Is there a slot somewhere called home Where, spent and worn, your soul may rest? A friendly tree? A book? A song? A dog that loves your hand's caress? A store of health to meet life's needs? Oh, build your house of happiness! Trust not tomorrow's dawn to bring The dreamed-of joy for which you wait; You have enough of pleasant things To house your soul in goodly state: Tomorrow Time's relentless stream Will bear what now you have away; Take what He gives, O heart, and build Your house of happiness today! —Selected.

Tips About Your Garden

If you are one of the thousands whom the New Deal has afforded more leisure, you may be interested in the following series of articles on subsistence gardening, prepared by W. R. Beattie, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, for NEA Service. This is the second.

By W. R. BEATTIE

Of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Written Especially for NEA Service

Getting the soil in condition for planting is one of the essential factors in growing a good garden.

First of all, the ground must be cleaned of any brush, stumps, or weeds. Stone should be picked up, and trash cleared away.

If subsistence gardens are in a group, it usually will pay to hire the plowing and harrowing.

Of course, on a small plot of ground like a back yard or a vacant lot, and if you have time, spading is all right; in fact, if spading is done properly, it will give a better seed bed than where the ground is plowed.

The right way to spade is to take thin slices, turn the soil over completely, and break the lumps with the edge of the spade as you go along. You can pulverize the surface with a steel rake, but raking will not break hard lumps.

How deep to plow or spade depends on the soil. If you have only six inches of surface soil, it is a mistake to spade or plow deeper than eight inches.

Manure and Fertilizers

Manure is the best fertilizer for gardens, but it is extremely scarce. Only occasionally will gardeners be able to obtain enough manure of good quality.

Manure adds organic matter, the substance most frequently lacking in soils used for subsistence gardens. Weeds, cornstalks, almost anything in the nature of organic matter, turned under when plowing or spading will help add humus, but manure also increases the plant food supply.

Manure that has not been composted should be plowed or spaded under, but well-rotted material can be spread over the surface after plowing or spading and worked into the top soil.

We Americans have asked that ques-

Market gardeners find it very much to their advantage to use commercial fertilizers in connection with the growing of their garden crops. This applies also to subsistence gardens, and wherever it is possible to finance the purchase of commercial fertilizers they should be used in moderation.

Generally speaking, 500 pounds of a good standard fertilizer will be sufficient for a one-half acre garden.

For a small garden, one bag, containing 167 pounds, of a 5-8-5 or a 6-5-5 fertilizer will be about right.

the house were the following Arkansas members: Cravens, Driver, Fuller, Glover, Miller and Parks. Representative Terry voted against. The same line-up prevailed on the Fatman bill roll call.

Nearly every member was present and galleries were filled when the house convened. Patman opened the argument for the bill.

He said the bill would help the veterans, would pay off an obligation of the government, and "it will create purchasing power in every nook and corner of the nation without delay, graft or favoritism."

Fish, Republican, New York, in opposition, charged it would result in the "widest inflation" this country has ever known.

With President Roosevelt's determination to veto the bill, Fish said "all this amounts to is a political swindle."

Brown, Democrat, Kentucky, attacked the measure.

"I don't think we ought to hide behind the president, but we ought to stand up here and say," Brown said, "our leader says 'no' and vote against it."

He said the veterans did not want the bonus paid before it was due.

"This country won't be hurt if some of us are missing next year," Brown said.

Attacking Brown, Wideman, Democrat, Michigan, said "today we find the gentleman from Kentucky saying 'follow the president' when only a week ago he was leading a revolt against him." He referred to the revolt against the use of government bonds to back Federal Reserve notes in which Brown joined 10 days ago.

Army Planes Grounded

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A list of the curtailed schedules which the army will fly when its mail planes go aloft again was made public Monday at the Postoffice Department along with the assertion the army had said it was prepared to fly the mails at the time the private contracts were cancelled.

The new schedule, as made public by postoffice officials, includes: Boston to New York; New York to San Francisco, via Chicago and Salt Lake City; New York to Jacksonville; Washington to Atlanta; Chicago to Dallas, via Kansas City and St. Louis; Salt Lake to Seattle; Salt Lake to San Diego, via Los Angeles; Cheyenne to Denver and Chicago to St. Paul.

Postoffice Department officials also said they expected the army to take the air again Tuesday with the mail but at the War Department it was said this was unlikely and no prediction would be made as to the time for resumption, although this was expected within two or three days.

The postoffice statement in the controversy over whether the army was consulted before the postmaster general cancelled the contracts of private companies and gave their job to the service was made by Harlow Branch, assistant postmaster general.

With Postmaster General Farley sitting by, Branch told newspapermen that he had consulted Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the Army Air Corps, February 9—just a few hours before the contracts were cancelled—about the ability of the army to take over.

Branch said Eugene Vidal, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, was present and that Vidal had been called in because the Department of Commerce is entrusted with supervision of airways, radio information and other ground service.

Branch said that Foulois was enthusiastic over the suggestion that the army carry the mail, commenting that it would give pilots much needed experience. Branch said he then submitted the proposed schedule of operations to Foulois and that the general said he thought that the army could take over in about 10 days.

"We allowed the time the army wanted for preparation in making the cancellation effective," Farley commented.

Governor Places Party Pledge With State Committee

LITTLE ROCK—Governor Futrell will be a candidate for renomination in the Democratic primary in August.

This became a certainty Monday when he filed his party pledge with the Democratic State Central Committee. While it had been expected generally that he would seek a second term, he had previously given no public intimation of his intention.

His is the only pledge as a gubernatorial candidate yet filed. Several names have been mentioned as possible opponents of the governor, but talk of opposition has subsided to a great extent since the enactment of the new refunding law.

As often as reducing is mentioned, someone who thinks she is too thin asks what to do to gain weight. Unfortunately the advice cannot be simply a reversal of the reducing routine. It's not that easy. For, after all, over-eating is sometimes as disastrous as eating too little.

Rules for Parole Tightened by Pen

Second Offenders, Parole Violators, Must Serve Extra Time

LITTLE ROCK—The State Penal Board Monday tightened its restrictions on clemency applicants.

Under the new restrictions, Chairman Walter Helms of Ozarkana announced, no second offenders or parole violators will be considered for parole, and applications of short-term convicts will not be considered until they have served half, instead of one-third of their time.

The board, meeting to consider parole applications for the first time since December, reviewed 236 applications for clemency, granted 66 and rejected 169. The list of approved applications will be released by Suplt. A. G. Stedman after the records of the prisoners have been prepared by him for release.

Second offenders and convicts who have violated former paroles and furloughs "might just as well make up their minds to serve their full terms," Chairman Helms said.

"Lady Sheriff" in a Fighting Mood

Won't Resign, Declares Woman Who Let Dillinger Get Away

CROWN POINT, Ind. — (AP) — The skeptic who believes that no woman knows her own mind, just has not met the pretty "lady sheriff of Crown Point," Mrs. Lillian M. Holley, from whose "escape proof" jail John Dillinger, Hoosier bad man, went A. W. C. L. a week ago today.

Mrs. Holley not only known her own mind, but she speaks it bluntly. "No," she said today. "I haven't got a thing to say" and then like a woman turned around and said plenty. "I'm not going to resign. No, I'm not. If anybody wants to get me out of this office it will have to be through impeachment—and I'll fight. I'll fight." Asked if she had the opportunity to resign again and make her arrangements for the safekeeping of Dillinger, "I would do just as I did," she interrupted quickly and firmly. "I would take exactly the same precautions, give the same orders."

She paused a moment. Her very blue eyes looked out squarely from her weary, worry-drawn face. "There was nothing wrong with my preparations and precautions. I just got a bad break. It could have happened to anyone," she said.

She is very slim and most girlish, this mother of 18-year-old twin daughters, and a year and two months ago tackled the job of sheriff after her husband fell a victim of a mad man's bullet.

She relaxed into the depth of an overstuffed chair, and then propped up again. "And another thing, I'm taking full responsibility for the preparations and precautions I took." It is her opinion that she is "on the spot" between political factions, but, she said, "that is not going to bluff me."

"The world thinks a woman will back down. Well, here's one that won't," and she slapped the chair arm emphatically. "Afraid of gun fire?" "No," she snapped. "I go out on calls with my men. No, I would not sidestep gun play."

And she has the reputation for being a good shot. "When Dillinger is recaptured, perhaps I won't get him back again—but I'm going to ask for him. You bet I am."
